Dear Brian,

I am writing to express my heartfelt support for your extraordinary endeavour, The Play Musical.

As someone who has dedicated over fifty years to studying, performing, and teaching music, I deeply appreciate the vision and creativity that underpin your work.

Throughout my career, I have had the privilege of working on diverse musical projects, from performing with institutions like the WA Opera and WA Symphony Orchestra to participating in community-driven initiatives such as Perth's Channel 7 Telethon. These experiences have consistently underscored music's vital role in connecting individuals and shaping meaningful narratives, a sentiment that resonates strongly with the essence of The Play Musical.

Your ability to weave storytelling and music into a cohesive, inspiring production is remarkable. As a composer and educator, I understand the challenges and rewards of crafting music that not only captivates audiences but also challenges and inspires performers. Your work embodies this balance, offering a space where creativity flourishes, and emotions are powerfully conveyed.

I am particularly inspired by your commitment to creating a musical that reflects authentic human experiences. In my role as the WA representative for the Australian Guild of Music & Speech, I have championed projects and compositions that engage, uplift, and resonate with individuals across all walks of life. The Play Musical has the potential to do exactly this, leaving a lasting impact on its audiences and the broader creative community.

Please know that I wholeheartedly support your creative efforts and commend your incredible work. If there is any way I can assist or contribute to the success of The Play Musical, I would be delighted to do so.

I wish you every success as you continue to develop this inspiring production. Your passion and dedication to the arts are truly a gift, and I have no doubt that The Play Musical will touch the hearts of many.

Sincerely yours,

Alfonso Demasi
